Lady of the Gone Blind (The Chronicles of the Lady in the Red Dress) (Volume 1) Ms. Charletta N Brunson

We are plunged into the year 2104 covering the life of Aleta Graaf, one of the heiresses of The Graaf Medical Group, a highly successful family owned medical research enterprise, who at the age of twelve after getting bitten by a vampire goes blind and is snatched away along with her older sister, Alene Graaf and her older brother, Adalwin Graaf, from their swindling father, Bastiaan Graaf, who is also a vampire as well, and is plunged into the now high-tech child protective services which the trio is separated, leaving Alene's and Adalwin's memories alone, but modifying Aleta's. After being in the system for nine years, Aleta returns to her adopted parents, Abram and Brigitta Schenck, this time as her sponsors for her being a scout for academic scholarships to Bouwmeester U. Aleta's memory starts to reform and take shape after an e-mail from her father reminding her of her job in his gang, The Lady in the Red Dress, which was collecting bank accounts along with their security codes, credit card numbers, as well as social security numbers through her very well developed telepathy. She dives into the minds of her newest group of friends only to learn that each of them have barriers, and also into the mind of a boy whom her new friends have always kept a wide berth from, and find out that his mind is more tortured and tormented than the minds of her new friends. A heart-racing and mysterious tale in which Aleta's well-developed talents makes her a victim and unexpected paths and darker worlds begins to form, take shape, and explodes when you least expect it. It is sure to take you on a ride unlike no other. (Some explicit descriptions of sex and strong language)
