Richest Man in Babylon and The Magic Story Napoleon Hill

Two classic allegorical dramatizations about building wealth and achieving personal success

The Richest Man in Babylon

George Clason's all-time motivational classic comes to life in this audio dramatization adapted by the Napoleon Hill Foundation. It is the story of Akrad, a man of humble of origins; a simple tradesman who was widely known to be the richest man in Babylon.

Regardless of who you are or what work you do, security, riches, and all that comes with them can be yours by combining discipline and imagination with these deceptively simple yet universally profound principles of saving and investing. You too can become the richest man in Babylon.

The Magic Story

Something was happening to all of Jay's friends-they were becoming self-confident, setting goals, and achieving success, and it was all because of a story that was being told to them by a mutual friend, Sturtevant.

Sturtevant, the struggling artist and bad credit risk, had gone through an amazing transformation-he was now a man of supreme confidence with far-reaching goals and great ambitions. What had brought on this miraculous change? He told Jay of the hand-written pages he had stumbled across in an old book-of the story, a magic story, that had unleashed a new and wonderful power within him and changed his life.

Take a journey of discovery. Here in this magical drama are real truths and genuine solutions to the challenges that face us all. Do you want to transform your life from what it is to what you want it to become? Take a listen-when the story ends, the real magic begins.
