From Book 1: Sin has caused a rift in their relationship.

When Adrienne, a Bible college student, realizes she's expecting a baby, she faces a monumental decision. Filled with guilt and shame, she makes the impulsive and regrettable choice to run—to leave college, to leave the relationship, and to return home to her parents in Pennsylvania. The fog of shame has altered her thinking. Staying in the relationship will prevent the man she loves from fulfilling his God-appointed call to become a missionary. But, as the days, months and years tick by, Adrienne regrets her decision. After coming to grips with God's grace, she attempts to find Chris—her daughter's father, so that she can share the truth of what she's done. Unfortunately, he is impossible to locate, now that he's ministering in the jungles of Nicaragua. With all hopes of locating him gone, a reconciliation feels hopeless.

Chris-rejected, confused, and heartbroken at the loss of the woman he loves-has finished school and finds himself in Nicaragua, loving life as a missionary. But the void left by Adrienne's unexplained departure remains. When Chris returns to the States for a friend's wedding, is his unexpected meeting with Adrienne a coincidence or a "God incidence?" Can they put aside the past and embrace a future together as a family?
